Ans to the Q no. 2

Some features of the PW skills lab is that it provides job assistance, also helps out with tools which is much needed for a developer. The lab helps out with the experience portal which is much important for a developer to note its works projects and the works done so that it can help building a good sight or to note the works so that it becomes for a company to hire the particular person with the help of that resume or profile build.

The lab is useful in many ways but mainly it is focused on the enrolled students who don't have high specs or the required part of pc needed for the development works to learn or the particular language needed to learn for the web development course.
